WASHINGTON BADLY BEATEN

The Indianapolis Ball Club Adds Another Game to Its List of Victories.

The Hoosiers Do Some Very Heavy Batting and Score Pitteen Runs Against Washington's Three-Other Games Yesterday.

Special to the Indianapolts Journal. WASHINGTON, June 11.-Nine men are extremely happy here to-night, and they are the Indianapolis Base-ball Club. In their game today they completely knocked the local club out, and had great amusement in piling up singles, doubles, triples and home runs. For the first five innings the game was exceedingly close, but even at that stage the spectators were thoroughly disgusted at the amateur playing of the Washingtons. They had chance and chance again to score, but the necessary base hit could not be found. The Hoosiers were wide awake and took advantage of every play, and their daring attempts at stealing bases were generally rewarded by an error on the part of some of the local team. The home team cannot attribute their defeat solely to errors. because, although Indianapolis scored more runs than they earned, they at the same time batted Daly hard enough to win any game. Moffet gave a fine exhibition, barring his wildness, only one man being able to place his surves with any kind of certainty, and that was Donnelly, who made three of Washington's hits. The Hoosiers bunched two three-baggers, a double, and two singles in the sixth inning, and they, together with two pitcher's errors, gave Indiapapolis five ruus. In the next inning Glasscock put the ball over the fence for a homerup, as did Hines in the eighth. In that inning three errors, a home-run, a triple, a two-bagger, and two singles gave eight runs. A crowd of 800 people jeered, hooted, and made all manner of sport of the home players. The game was disgusting from a Washington point of view.

NEW YORK, June 11 .- The Chicagos won their second game from the Giants to-day, in the presence of 4,500 spectators. Krock pitched for the Chicagos, and whether it was for fear of his twirling or because they did not care to win, the New Yorks, for the first six innings, played a listless, heavy game. Welch pitched for the local nine with his usual good effect against Anson's men. Score: NEW YORK. CHICAGO.

The League Record. Washington..... 9 Henry Boyle at Home.

Pitcher Boyle has returned from the East, his injury being so severe that he will be unable to play for a week or more, at least. The last ball that he pitched in the New York game on Thursday was batted to him, and, although he stopped it and threw the runner out at first, bis hand was badly lacerated, the split extending into the hand between the second and third fingers and also down the second finger. He hopes, however, to join the club in Detroit the latter part of next week. His services will be badly missed at Philadelphia, as he is very effective against that team. Boyle says the club is playing finely, but has had a great deal of hard luck. Myers has been sick during most of the trip
East, and Denny has a very bad finger, the result of a collision with Boyle in the same game in which the latter was laid up. "But we will keep them all busy before the season is out," says the pitcher. Base-Ball Notes. The Indianapolis club plays in Toronto on Esterbrook is popular in New York. He was warmly received at the Polo grounds and played good ball, too.

Sporting Life: Jerry Denny is batting heavily and fielding brilliantly. He is still the peerless

A Boston correspondent declares that de-tectives are employed in "spotting" the players of that team, some of whom are disposed to break regulations regarding late hours.

The longest game of the season to date was played at Danbury, Conn., June 2, between the Danbury and Norwalk clubs. After seventeen innings' play the game had to be called, with the score a tie at 7 each. President Young has settled the controversy over that Philadelphia-Pittsburg game on May 5, in which Gardiner played. He says. "The game cannot count for Philadelphia by reason of playing an iheligible player."

We'll admit Anson's won'erful organization right here, says the Boston correspondent of the Clipper. Few have any idea of his thoroughness and of its perfection. Kelly and Clarkson were different men in Chicago than in Boston just on account of it. We lack it in Boston. One can see the weakness out here in almost every game.

tal stock of $1,000, has been organized in that city. Will R. Yartelle is treasurer, and J. M. Haas is secretary and also manager of the club. A contract has been entered into for first-class grounds, located within the city limits, which will be speedily enclosed and games booked. A strong amateur cluo will be put into the field as soon as possible, which will be able to cope with any organization of its kind. The secretary will be glad to hear from clubs throughout the State.

Says Sporting Life: "The Indianapolis team so far has been a disappointment to its friends and a surprise to its opponents. It is making no better record than last season, and yet was considerably strengthened last winter in the batting department, is a good fielding combination, and is not so badly off for pitchers." You are mistaken. The club is now seventh, where last year it was eighth, and its percentage remains about .350, whereas it was generally at .250 last year. It is true, however, that the club has disappointed its friends at times.

Anson is not particularly infatuated with the present League staff of umpires, and says it is a shame for a powerful league to have a poor staff of umpires when such men as Joe Start, John Manning and Fred Goldsmith are idle. "Why," said Anson, "if Joe Start was umpiring a game in which the Chicagos were playing and he made a decision against us I would not kick, and if any of my men did I would fine them beavily, and if they persisted I would expel them altogether, for I know that Joe Start is honest, and would not willingly give a bad decision."

The Chicago correspondent of Sporting Life makes a fool of himself by abusing the players of another club, and then adding: "Without a single exception, the Chrcago players, in conduct off the field and on it, are above reproach.

Can anybody prove to the contrary! If so, please undertake it." Of all the numerous partisan correspondents to the leading sporting papers none make so many asinine statements as this same Chicago correspondent of Sporting Life. He it was who recently advised President Young to arrange a prize fight between

THEY CAN HAVE WORK.

Gibney Fails to Get the Home Laborers Required on the Trust's Lines.

Gibney & Co., who have the contract to lay the Consumers' Trust's pipe in the city were compelled, they say, to again put the Italians to work yesterday afternoon. Several days ago, in answer to the demand of men who said they represented home laborers, the contractors took off the Italians, and advertised for 600 other workmen. Saturday afternoon the men needed were very far from being procured, and while the situation was a little better yesterday, yet only 200 men were at work. In three gangs they had about sixty men each, and in another thirty, and it being evident that the unemployed home laborers were either not as numerous or did not wish to work at the price offered, $1.35 per day, the contractors say that to meet the requirements of the contract they had to utilize what labor they could get. "We are ready," said one of the contractors yesterday, "to employ all home laborers who want work. It is nothing new for us to meet such protests as have been made by agitators. If the 600 men we need are in the Local News Notes.
